

ALL INDIA CONGRESS COMMITTEE

24, AKBAR ROAD, NEW DELHI-110011

Rahul Gandhi

President

My young friends,

In my travels across India, I am constantly awed by the energy and dynamism of our student community. Every young person is unique but there is one thing common to all of you: you are nation builders. Today countries forge ahead not with war but with science and technology and art and literature. Societies progress by embracing rationality and justice. And you students in India are at the forefront of this progressive advance.

However, many of you face an uphill battle: it is not easy to get admission into good colleges, college fees are often very high, and sometimes what you study does not seem helpful to getting a job. Many of you live in difficult circumstances and are working demanding jobs during your studies, without support or access to networks. Or you may feel that there isn't direction and/or encouragement for you when you need it. All of you are the future of a dynamic India and my heart fills with your commitment.

I want you to know that I respect your struggle and determination. I want to work with you. We in the Congress Party will ensure that you get the respect and space you deserve and the support you need. We will do everything we can so that you have direct access to opportunities, and we will end the corruption in the system which holds you back. We have launched "Behtar Bharat"/"Future of India" to give you a platform to have your say. You tell us the issues that matter to you and we will put them on the national agenda. Your concerns are our concerns, your priorities are the Congress Party's priorities.

Yours,

Rahul Gandhi
